

Reputation Galaxy Launches to Help Local Businesses Remove Fake and Negative Google Reviews

Service focuses entirely on Google Business Profile ratings, the single number most customers check first

Chicago, Illinois Aug 7, 2026 (Issuewire.com) - Reputation Galaxy, an online reputation company, today announced the launch of its review removal service, built specifically for business owners dealing with fake, fraudulent, or policy-violating reviews on their Google Business Profile.

A star rating is often the first thing a potential customer sees, and it can be the only thing they check before deciding whether to call. Reputation Galaxy focuses only on that rating: identifying reviews that violate Google's own review policies (reviews from fake accounts, reviews left by someone with no real interaction with the business, reviews that are actually about a different location, and reviews that cross into harassment or defamation) and pursuing their removal through Google's flagging and reporting channels.

"A single fake one-star review can sit at the top of a business's profile for years and cost far more in lost calls than it would ever cost to fight," said a Reputation Galaxy spokesperson. "We only work on this one thing, so we know Google's review policy in more detail than a business owner running a shop or a practice ever has time to."

Reputation Galaxy does not offer to remove accurate reviews simply because they are negative, and does not generate or incentivize fake positive reviews to offset real ones, a practice that violates Google's terms and can get a business's entire profile suspended. Instead, the service audits a business's existing reviews against Google's policies, files formal removal requests for the reviews that qualify, and helps business owners respond professionally to the accurate negative reviews that remain, since a thoughtful public response is often what a future customer reads most closely.

The company says its earliest clients have been concentrated among local service businesses, healthcare and dental practices, and restaurants and hospitality operators, all categories where a handful of reviews can carry outsized weight in a small, local search market.
