The fighting entrepreneur and world-class author, Tony Deoleo, embarks on a challenging mission of publishing 2,085 books in only two years. This epic feat will make him a Guinness World Records record holder, as no author has done it before. Despite human limits, Tony has decided to craft and publish more than 1000 books per year, which will allow him to complete his mission by December 25, 2027. Tony is completely focused on writing to complete this long-term mission by the end of next year.

The record holder for most published works in the Guinness World Records listing is L. Ron Hubbard, who has written 1,084 books, and Tony is willing to break that record by publishing 1001 more books than him. While this goal is immense, the author is ready to achieve this milestone with a progressive roadmap, as he has already published 100 books successfully, creating a milestone in his dynamic career.

Author Tony Deoleo is also an entrepreneur, philanthropist, as well as a fitness and performance expert, who possesses years of experience and in-depth knowledge. Through his books, the author is willing to make a global impact by delivering education, personal development, entrepreneurship, health and fitness, and overall empowerment for the readers.
