

Zoiko HR Launches Commercially as a Standalone HR Platform for Modern Organizations

Sacramento, California Aug 25, 2026 (IssueWire.com) - Zoiko HR today announced its commercial launch, making its fully developed and tested human resources platform available to organizations as a standalone SaaS product while continuing to offer it within Zoiko One.

Zoiko HR is designed to help businesses manage the employment lifecycle in a secure digital environment. It brings together employee records, onboarding, leave and absence, documentation, policies, performance, approvals, workforce administration, reporting, and appropriate access controls across organizations.

The launch gives customers a choice. Organizations can adopt Zoiko HR independently without purchasing Zoiko One, or use Zoiko HR within Zoiko One when they want HR to operate alongside a broader set of connected business workflows.

“HR technology should make the employment relationship easier to administer, easier to understand, and easier to govern,” said Lennox McLeod, Founder and Executive Chairman of Zoiko Group. “Zoiko HR gives organizations a foundation for managing people, governing the records, processes, approvals, and responsibilities that surround them, and improving the employee and manager experience.”

A More Dependable HR Foundation

Many organizations still manage workforce information across spreadsheets, shared drives, email, point solutions, and managers. As teams grow, that fragmentation can create duplicated records, inconsistent processes, weak visibility, and unnecessary administrative work.

Zoiko HR is designed to replace that fragmentation with a governed system of record for the employment lifecycle. Employees can access information and requests, managers can review and approve actions through defined workflows, and HR teams can administer records with clear ownership, permissions, and traceability.

Standalone by Design. Integrated by Choice.

Zoiko HR operates as an independent product with its own subscription, onboarding, documentation, and support. Customers do not need to purchase other Zoiko products to use it.

For organizations seeking integration, Zoiko HR remains available within Zoiko One, with connected data, workflows, administration, and reporting. This model allows businesses to start with dedicated HR software and expand into a wider Zoiko environment as requirements evolve.

Built for Modern Organizations

Zoiko HR supports organizations managing distributed teams, hybrid work, changing structures, and growing workforce complexity. Its purpose is not simply to digitize HR paperwork, but to provide a more consistent way to manage employee information, approvals, policies, performance processes, and workforce administration throughout employment.

The platform is designed around security, appropriate access, accountable workflows, and human responsibility. Technology can improve administration and visibility, but consequential employment decisions remain the responsibility of authorized people within the organization.

Commercial Availability

Zoiko HR is commercially available from Friday, August 14, 2026, as a standalone SaaS platform and through Zoiko One.
