Dallas, Texas Sep 9, 2026 (IssueWire.com) - Built for More is inviting men across Dallas–Fort Worth to build friendships rooted in faith through four free gatherings this fall at The Hills Dallas. The Christian men’s series welcomes teen and adult men, including those who do not regularly attend church.

The series meets from 6:00–8:00 p.m. Central Time on September 9, October 14, November 11 and December 16, 2026, at 3014 Skillman St., Dallas, TX 75206. Each evening combines worship and biblical teaching with food trucks and time for conversation, giving attendees a place to connect while exploring questions of purpose, leadership and personal growth.

Under the theme “One Purpose: Brotherhood — Not Just Another Event,” Built for More puts meaningful relationships at the center of the experience. Men can attend with friends, coworkers, family members or a ministry group, or arrive on their own and meet others who share an interest in growing in faith.

For church leaders, the four-night format offers an opportunity to invite men into fellowship throughout the fall. For attendees, the gatherings are designed to connect biblical teaching with everyday relationships, responsibilities and decisions.

Fall 2026 Speakers and Monthly Schedule

September 9th: Built on the Rock - Featuring Rick Atchley of The Hills Church.

October 14th: Built as Sons - Featuring Chris Seidman of The Branch Church and his son, Cooper Seidman.

November 11th: Built in His Presence - Featuring Michael Miller of UPPERROOM Church.

December 16th: Built to Be Free - Featuring Bob Rodgers, CEO of Street Grace, with Brandon McRay, Head Dealer of Hope at Transformed Discipleship.

National church networks, Christian radio stations, faith-based publications and community media outlets are also invited to share the Dallas series with audiences connected to North Texas.

Admission to all four events is free. Attendees are encouraged to register in advance and subscribe for updates at www.builtformoremenseries.com.
