

Fabiana Filippi Unveils Fall/Winter 2026 Campaign, “Thread of Mastery”

The collection explores the relationship between craftsmanship, creativity, material, and contemporary femininity through the expressive language of thread.

Carmel, California Sep 15, 2026 (Issuewire.com) - Augustina Leathers, a longstanding destination for luxury fashion, leather, jewelry, and accessories in Carmel-by-the-Sea, is highlighting Fabiana Filippi's Fall/Winter 2026 collection, “Thread of Mastery.” The collection explores the relationship between craftsmanship, creativity, material, and contemporary femininity through the expressive language of thread.

Established in 1987, Augustina Leathers has built its reputation around carefully selected luxury pieces from renowned designers and artisans. The boutique's curated collection of international fashion brands includes Fabiana Filippi, offering clients on the Monterey Peninsula access to the Italian brand's distinctive approach to refined, understated style.

Thread as a Language of Craftsmanship

For Fall/Winter 2026, Fabiana Filippi places thread at the heart of its creative vision. In “Thread of Mastery,” thread becomes more than a fundamental element of clothing. It represents connection, continuity, craftsmanship, and the transformation of an idea into something tangible.

The collection reflects this philosophy through sophisticated knitwear, tactile tailoring, and knit dresses. Subtle textures and considered construction demonstrate Fabiana Filippi's emphasis on the relationship between material and form, creating pieces designed to feel both contemporary and enduring.

The collection was presented during Milan Fashion Week, where Fabiana Filippi developed an environment centered on thread as both a visual element and a pathway connecting art, material, and the human form.

Inspired by Art and Creative Expression

The creative language of "Thread of Mastery" draws inspiration from the work of Italian artist Maria Lai and Japanese artist Chiharu Shiota. Both artists have explored thread and its ability to create connections, structures, spaces, and narratives.

Rather than directly reproducing their work, Fabiana Filippi draws on their approach to material and transforms that influence into a fashion vocabulary of its own. Thread becomes an expressive detail within garments while reinforcing the collection's broader focus on craftsmanship and the creative process.

This connection between art and fashion reflects a philosophy that closely aligns with Augustina Leathers' own appreciation for wearable works of art and exceptional craftsmanship. The Carmel-by-the-Sea boutique has long focused on distinctive luxury pieces selected for their quality, design, and individuality.

A Contemporary Expression of Femininity

The Fall/Winter 2026 campaign features model Tasha Tilberg, whose strong presence and natural elegance reflect the contemporary woman at the center of Fabiana Filippi's aesthetic.

The campaign imagery was created by photographer Anna Daki with art direction by Paolo Santosuosso. Its visual approach brings together fashion, architecture, art, and material in an intentionally restrained setting, allowing the collection itself to remain the focus.

The campaign's Milan setting further reinforces the relationship between craftsmanship and contemporary design. The resulting imagery presents Fabiana Filippi's Fall/Winter 2026 collection as an expression of quiet confidence rather than excess.
