

Howell Law Firm PC Sheds Light on the Legal Complexities of Rideshare Accident Claims in California

Woodland Hills, California Nov 3, 2026 (Issuewire.com) - Howell Law Firm PC is offering guidance for California residents involved in rideshare accidents, an accident category the firm says raises insurance and liability questions that differ from a typical car accident claim.

Rideshare accidents involving companies such as Uber and Lyft can involve layered insurance coverage that depends on the driver's status at the time of the crash, for example, whether the driver's app was off, on and waiting for a ride request, or actively transporting a passenger. Each period can trigger different coverage limits and different insurers.

Passengers, other drivers, and pedestrians injured in a rideshare-related collision may need to pursue a claim against the rideshare driver, the rideshare company's insurer, another at-fault driver, or some combination, depending on the facts of the crash.

Howell Law Firm PC represents injured passengers, drivers, and pedestrians in rideshare accident claims across California, including cases involving Uber and Lyft vehicles.

Because rideshare accidents can involve multiple insurance carriers and corporate policies, gathering trip details promptly, including screenshots of the ride, driver information, and any available dashcam or app data, can help support a claim.

The firm notes that rideshare accident claims raise legal questions that are less commonly discussed than standard car accident claims, even as rideshare use remains common in California cities.

Anyone injured in a rideshare-related accident in California is encouraged to seek a legal review of their situation, particularly given the number of parties that can potentially be involved.

Howell Law Firm PC represents injured clients throughout California in car, rideshare, and other motor
