Fall YouTube Growth Window, a limited-time September campaign designed to support independent artists, musicians, and content creators seeking to strengthen the visibility of their YouTube content.

As part of the campaign, MPC is offering a 10% discount on YouTube Promotion Services from September 7 through September 15, 2026. The initiative provides creators with an opportunity to explore promotional support for their YouTube videos and channels during the early fall period.

YouTube continues to be an important platform for independent musicians and creators looking to reach new audiences, showcase their work, and develop a consistent digital presence. MPC's September campaign is positioned around this seasonal opportunity, encouraging creators to evaluate their existing YouTube strategies and consider promotional approaches that align with their audience-development goals.

"September can be an important transition period for creators as audiences return to more consistent online routines following the summer months," said a spokesperson for Music Promotion Club. "Through the Early Fall YouTube Growth Window, we want to give independent creators an opportunity to explore YouTube promotion while making these services more accessible for a limited period."

The campaign is available to eligible customers between September 7 and September 15, 2026. The 10% discount applies during the promotional period, subject to the applicable terms of the service.
