

Onvera AI Issues Official Statement on Unauthorized Brand Impersonation and Misleading Online Claims

Company addresses unauthorized use of the Onvera AI name and clarifies misleading online claims arising from third-party impersonation.

Miami, Florida Sep 8, 2026 (Issuewire.com) - Onvera AI has issued an official statement addressing recent misleading claims circulating on LinkedIn and other online platforms regarding the company and its recruitment activities.

Onvera AI has identified incidents in which unauthorized third parties have misused the Onvera AI name, corporate identity, and brand while falsely presenting themselves as representatives of the company. These individuals and their activities were not authorized by Onvera AI and do not represent the company.

Onvera AI takes the unauthorized use of its corporate identity seriously. Communications or activities conducted by individuals without authorization should not be attributed to Onvera AI, its employees, or its legitimate recruitment operations.

Recent negative online commentary has incorrectly associated certain activities conducted under the Onvera AI name with the company itself. Onvera AI strongly disputes the attribution of unauthorized third-party conduct to the company.

An individual's use of the Onvera AI name, logo, employee identity, corporate information, or other company materials does not establish that the individual is employed by, affiliated with, or authorized to represent Onvera AI.

Onvera AI encourages candidates and members of the public to independently verify individuals claiming to represent the company through official corporate channels. Anyone who encounters suspected impersonation, unauthorized recruitment activity, fraudulent profiles, or misuse of the Onvera AI name is encouraged to preserve relevant communications and report the matter to the company.

Onvera AI is taking appropriate measures to protect its corporate identity, candidates, employees, partners, and reputation from unauthorized use and impersonation.

The company remains committed to professionalism, transparency, security, and accountability and will continue to address misleading information arising from unauthorized use of the Onvera AI name.
