

QAPIplus and Curantis Solutions Partner to Connect Hospice Documentation to Real-Time Quality Action

Addison, Texas Sep 30, 2026 (Issuewire.com) - QAPIplus, the quality and compliance operations platform built specifically for post-acute care, is proud to announce a new integration with Curantis Solutions, a leading hospice EMR provider. The partnership connects clinical documentation captured in the Curantis EMR directly to QAPIplus, giving hospice quality teams real-time visibility into incidents and a faster path from finding an issue to fixing it.

The integration automates the transfer of incident data, including patient infections, falls, medication errors, adverse drug reactions, and hospitalizations, from Curantis into QAPIplus. No exports, manual entry, or long delays.

Once that data lands in QAPIplus, it becomes the starting point for a continuous improvement cycle, not a line item in a spreadsheet. Incidents flow in alongside chart audits, which agencies can run using QAPIplus's pre-built audit templates or build their own custom audits. From there, the platform analyzes what the data shows in real time. Incidents and audits become the two core inputs feeding every dashboard. Data flows to a live QAPI dashboard, grouped into trends across patients, disciplines, and locations, surfacing the patterns that matter before they show up in a survey. When a trend crosses a threshold the agency has defined, QAPIplus moves the team into action: AI-generated Performance Improvement Plans are built directly from the incident and audit data, so PIPs start from what actually happened instead of a blank template. And because every incident, audit, and PIP lives in one place, agencies can prove improvement over time. Survey readiness reports stay current automatically and are ready for an auditor to review at any moment, not just the week before a survey.

In short, the integration turns Curantis documentation into the full loop QAPIplus is built around: capture what happened, analyze what it means, act on it, and prove it improved.

"Quality only works when information moves from capture to improvement," said Lara Koraian, Co-Founder and CTO of QAPIplus. "Hospice teams already document everything that happens in Curantis. The problem has never been a lack of data. It's that the data stops moving once it's captured. This integration closes that gap. An incident logged in Curantis becomes a trend QAPIplus flags, a PIP QAPIplus drafts, and a report that's ready the moment a surveyor asks for it."

"Our agencies trust Curantis to be the system of record for patient care," said Vicki Goodman, CRO of Curantis Solutions. "We wanted that same data to work harder for them once it's captured, without adding another manual process for their teams. Partnering with QAPIplus means the documentation our clients are already doing inside Curantis now drives real-time quality action, automatically."

For hospice agencies using Curantis, the integration removes one of the most time-consuming parts of quality management: chasing down incident data across systems to prepare for PI meetings, surveys, or performance reviews. That work now happens continuously in the background. Agencies using the integration can expect to save hours weekly by eliminating manual data entry and report prep, improve care quality through real-time incident insights, reduce quality and compliance related administrative costs, and strengthen survey defensibility with dashboards and reports ready for surveyor access at any time.
