Triazine Software and Maadima Group Mark Seven Years of Partnership

Triazine Software and Maadima Group Mark Seven Years of Strategic Technology Partnership

Noida, Uttar Pradesh Sep 26, 2026 (Issuewire.com) - Triazine Software, a global enterprise technology partner, is marking seven years of collaboration with Maadima Group, a fintech organisation building a connected ecosystem across credit, guarantees, insurance, payments, transactions, risk intelligence and digital experiences.

Since the partnership began, Triazine Software has worked closely with Maadima Group as its technology and business requirements have evolved. What began as a technology engagement has grown into a long-term relationship built through continued collaboration, consistent delivery and a deeper understanding of the business.

Over the years, the two organisations have continued to work together as Maadima Group has expanded its digital capabilities, with Triazine Software supporting the technology requirements that have emerged along the way.

That relationship was brought into focus recently when Khomotjo Lebepe, Founder of Maadima Group, made his second visit to Triazine Software's India office.

During the visit, Lebepe met with Triazine's leadership and engineering teams, spent time with the people working on the partnership and discussed the work delivered so far as well as the direction ahead.

For Abhinav Kumar, Co-Founder of Triazine Software, the visit reflected what the relationship has come to represent.

"Partnerships like this are exactly what we set out to build when we started Triazine Software," said Abhinav Kumar, Co-Founder, Triazine Software. "Seven years with Maadima Group reflects consistent delivery, mutual trust and a shared commitment to growing together. Khomotjo's visit to our India office was a meaningful reminder of what makes a long-term technology partnership different. Individual projects don't define this relationship. It has grown through the work we have done together over the years, and we are looking forward to what comes next."

That sense of continuity is also central to how Vikash Srivastava, Co-Founder of Triazine Software, views the relationship.

"What makes this partnership meaningful is how it has grown over time," said Vikash Srivastava, Co-Founder, Triazine Software. "The objective was never simply to deliver technology and move on. We wanted to become an extension of the team. Every new initiative we have taken together has been built on the trust established through the work before it. That is what long-term partnership means to us, and it is the kind of relationship we aim to build with every enterprise we work with."

For Maadima Group, the relationship has similarly evolved through continued engagement between the two organisations.

"Our relationship with Triazine Software has grown significantly over the years," said Khomotjo Lebepe, Founder, Maadima Group. "Visiting the team in India again allowed me to spend time with the people behind the technology and see the depth of capability supporting our work. The relationship has continued to evolve, and it was valuable to reconnect in person with the leadership and engineering teams. We look forward to what we can build together in the years ahead."

As the relationship moves forward, Triazine Software and Maadima Group will continue to explore opportunities to deepen their collaboration and support Maadima Group's evolving technology requirements.

For Triazine Software, the partnership reflects a broader philosophy: enterprise technology relationships should not end when a project goes live. They should become more valuable as both organisations build knowledge, trust and understanding over time.

That approach is central to Triazine Software's positioning as a global enterprise technology partner. The company works with organisations across complex, regulated environments, taking responsibility for technology delivery, ongoing support, and continuous enhancement rather than treating each engagement as a standalone project.

About Triazine Software

Triazine Software is a global enterprise technology partner serving leading organisations across Oil & Gas, FMCG, Government & Public Sector, Industrial Safety and other sectors globally.

The company has 11 years of enterprise delivery experience, 500+ projects and 300+ clients, with 150+ technology professionals delivering globally from India. Triazine Software is CMMI Level 3 and ISO 9001:2015 certified, with technology partnerships across AWS, Microsoft, IBM, and Newgen.

Triazine Software delivers digital transformation, application modernisation, AI and automation, cloud, enterprise mobility, field operations, compliance platforms and product engineering for organisations operating in complex enterprise environments.

Website: triazinesoft.com

About Maadima Group

MAADIMA is building a connected fintech ecosystem across credit, guarantees, insurance, payments, transactions, risk intelligence and digital experiences. The company combines operating experience, technology, data and disciplined risk management to help customers make better decisions and grow with confidence.

Website: maadima.group

Media Contact

Triazine Software

@triazinesoft.com

0120 427 5378

1st Floor, B-28 & 29, Sector 58

https://triazinesoft.com/

Source : Triazine Software

See on IssueWire