CostSavings Partners with Jaris to Bring Embedded Lending to Businesses

CostSavings is partnering with Jaris to bring embedded working-capital solutions directly into the CostSavings platform, expanding the financial tools available to growing businesses.

Boca Raton, Florida Oct 8, 2026 (Issuewire.com) - CostSavings, the AI-powered platform helping businesses cut costs and unlock savings across vendors, payroll, and financial services, today announced a partnership with Jaris, a leading embedded finance platform, to launch embedded lending for its business customers.

The new offering gives eligible CostSavings users access to bank-backed working capital, from application to funding, directly from the same platform they already use to find savings.

For the small and mid-sized businesses CostSavings serves, the gap between recognizing a savings opportunity and having the capital to act on it can be the difference between capturing it and letting it pass. Embedded lending closes that gap by creating a more streamlined path to apply for working capital directly within the CostSavings experience.

"Our goal with CostSavings is to help businesses uncover opportunities to improve their financial position and give them the tools to act on those opportunities. Partnering with Jaris allows us to extend that mission by giving businesses convenient access to working capital directly within the CostSavings experience," said Bill Kurtzner, President of CostSavings.

"CostSavings has built a platform businesses already trust to find savings — this gives them a way to act on those savings and easily access the capital they need to fuel their growth," said Matt Thomas, VP of Platform Partnerships at Jaris.

The partnership extends the CostSavings platform, which already helps businesses manage vendor pricing, payroll savings, employee benefits, and other financial resources in a single place. Jaris, in coordination with its banking partner, brings over $1 billion in capital capacity and compliance infrastructure to power the lending product and enable businesses with greater flexibility to invest in growth and manage cash flow.

Businesses can learn more at costsavings.com. Companies interested in launching financial products with Jaris can visit jaris.com.

About CostSavings

CostSavings is an AI-powered business and employee savings platform. The platform helps organizations reduce operating expenses across key business categories while connecting employees to valuable savings, benefits, and financial tools. CostSavings also offers FeePilot, an AI-powered platform that enables independent sales organizations (ISOs) and their agents to quickly analyze merchant processing statements, develop pricing, and send tailored proposals to prospective merchants. Learn more at costsavings.com.

About Jaris

Jaris is a leading embedded finance platform and technology service provider that empowers payments and software companies to launch personalized financial products for their small and medium-sized business customers. With over $1 billion in capital capacity and a best-in-class compliance program, Jaris offers scalable, secure, and profitable solutions that enhance SMB access to financial products while helping partners increase retention, revenue, and enterprise value.

Jaris is a technology company, not a bank. All banking services and credit products are provided by First Internet Bank of Indiana, Member FDIC. Learn more at jaris.com.

Media Contact

Cost Savings

@costsavings.com

(855) 728-3321

https://costsavings.com/

Source : Cost Savings LLC

See on IssueWire