

From The Bronx to FOX: Word Life Is Still Standing on “99 to Beat”!

Puerto Rican entertainer advances to Episode 4 of FOX’s thrilling competition series with $1 million on the line!

New York City, New York Oct 14, 2026 (IssueWire.com) - The award-winning Puerto Rican entertainer, storyteller, and social media personality is competing in Season 2 of FOX's hit reality competition 99 to Beat, and after three episodes, HE'S STILL IN THE GAME!

Hosted by comedian and actor Ken Jeong and NFL personality Erin Andrews, 99 to Beat brings together 100 contestants competing in outrageous, hilarious, and unpredictable challenges for a $1 MILLION GRAND PRIZE! The rule is simple: Don't finish last!

Originally from the Bronx, Word Life is known for his larger-than-life personality, infectious humor, cultural pride, and signature catchphrase, "Facts Is Facts!"

Named 2026 Influencer of the Year at both the National Puerto Rican Day Parade in NYC and the Boston Puerto Rican Festival, Word Life has become a recognizable personality in Latino entertainment, covering major sporting events, hosting cultural celebrations, and connecting with millions through digital media.

Now he's bringing that same Bronx swagger and Boricua energy to FOX!

THREE EPISODES DOWN. WORD LIFE IS STILL STANDING. HOW FAR WILL HE GO?

Will he outlast the competition and take home the million dollars? Puerto Rico, the Bronx, and fans everywhere are watching!

Catch Word Life on Episode 4 of 99 to Beat, Wednesday, October 14, on FOX!

Facts Is Facts!
