

Joshua Briscoe Utah Floral Design and Entrepreneurship Blog

New online publication will explore floral design, business experience and ideas discussed in Briscoe's earlier interviews.

Sandy, Utah Oct 22, 2026 (IssueWire.com) - A new blog focused on Utah floral entrepreneur Joshua Briscoe is being prepared for publication, bringing together articles about his business background, floral design interests and perspectives on entrepreneurship.

Titled “Joshua Briscoe | Utah Floral Design,” the publication will be available at <https://joshuabriscoeutah.blogspot.com/>. Its initial editorial topics include Briscoe’s path into business ownership and sustainability ideas he discussed in a 2024 interview with Inspirery.

In that interview, Briscoe described spending approximately five years working in flower shops before founding his own business in 2018. He credited the experiences of other young entrepreneurs, including business owners he followed on Instagram, with helping motivate his decision to pursue entrepreneurship.

Briscoe also discussed the challenges of starting a business without a family background in business ownership. His account emphasized learning through experience, securing financing and developing the knowledge needed to operate in the floral industry.

The planned publication will revisit these experiences with clear attribution to the original interview. Articles will distinguish previously published background from new developments, giving readers context about when particular views and practices were discussed.

One initial topic examines Briscoe’s comments about sourcing flowers locally, using biodegradable materials where possible, and recycling or repurposing floral supplies. In his 2024 interview, he also expressed interest in minimalist arrangements and nature-inspired design.

For readers exploring floral design, these subjects offer starting points for questions about seasonal availability, material choices and the role of reusable elements in arrangements. The blog will pair discussion of Briscoe’s published perspectives with general educational information for readers interested in floristry and small-business ownership.

The new publication provides a dedicated destination for this material, alongside the interviews and business profiles already available online.

Readers can visit <https://joshuabriscoeutah.blogspot.com/> for the forthcoming articles. The original interview is available at <https://inspirery.com/joshua-briscoe/>.
