Amy Wolff Named To Window Covering 300

Wolff Joins Prestigious List of Trailblazers Shaping Window Covering Industry

Scottsdale, Arizona Nov 23, 2026 (Issuewire.com) - Amy Wolff, owner of Amy Wolff Interiors in Scottsdale, is named to the list of Window Fashion VISION magazine's WC300-a milestone recognition of the 300 individuals, teams and organizations shaping the future of the window covering industry.

Nominations are made strictly by window covering industry professionals. The WC300 honors the magazine's three decades of serving as a premier source of inspiration, business insight, and industry leadership.

Wolff, C.I.D., CWTS, is recognized as an Interior Design Influencer based on her 22 years of award-winning experience and achievement as an innovative design and window treatment specialist. The magazine highlighted Wolff's "Thoughtful Design. Beautiful Results. No Drama" approach that includes clear communication, defined expectations and highly personalized solutions that consider the entire room, not just the window.

"I am extremely honored to be named to the Window Coverings 300—a truly 'WOW!' and humbling achievement to be included alongside respected mentors, talented creatives, and so many accomplished industry professionals," Wolff said.

"Winning multiple Window Fashion Vision Design Awards was also very exciting, as was being selected as one of only three designers to collaborate on the 2024 Window Fashions Outdoor Oasis Pavilion at the International Window Coverings Expo," added Wolff. "However, my greatest achievement is the trust I have earned from my clients. Their referrals, testimonials, and repeat business mean far more than any award."

Amy Wolff began her career in 2004, pursuing her passion for interior design through a national design company where she received extensive formal training. In 2010, she founded Amy Wolff Interiors to provide Scottsdale area clients with a more personal, highly customized experience.

Today, Wolff focuses primarily on custom window coverings and "anything fabric"—including drapery, blinds, shades, motorization, pillows, bedding, and upholstered furniture. She brings her interior design expertise to every project. Rather than simply measuring windows and selling products, Amy considers the entire room—including architecture, light, furnishings, proportions, privacy, function, and everyday living—to create solutions that are both beautiful and purposeful. Her career milestones include multiple international window covering design awards and industry certifications.

Visit Amy Wolff Interiors

Media Contact

Solomon Turner PR

@solomonturner.com

3142050800 https://solomonturner.com

Source : Amy Wolff Interiors

See on IssueWire