FPD Details ISO 4210 Testing Capabilities at Fujian Plant for Global OEM Markets

Zhangzhou, Fujian Nov 26, 2026 (Issuewire.com) - FPD (Zhangpu Weibo Bicycle Co., Ltd.), a bicycle component manufacturer and sister company of Taiwan-based FPD Industry Corp. (founded 1987), today detailed the production capacity and quality capabilities of its Zhangpu, Fujian plant. Registered in 2013 and in production since 2016, the Zhangpu facility is the group's main manufacturing base and among the first Taiwanese-invested enterprises to settle in the Zhangpu Bicycle Industrial Park.

The plant operates on a 30,000 m^2 site with around 110 employees. Annual capacity stands at 6 million pairs of pedals, 300,000 sets of headsets and 3 million sets of bottom brackets. The product line covers pedals, headsets and bottom brackets for both OEM and aftermarket customers.

In-house capabilities include plastic injection molding, metal heat treatment, forging, CNC machining and automated assembly. The heat treatment process is certified to IATF 16949, the automotive-quality standard.

All products are designed and in-house tested according to ISO 4210, the international bicycle safety standard. In-house testing is carried out against specific ISO 4210 clauses on annually calibrated equipment, with test records retained for each model. Third-party test reports are available for selected models, and testing can be arranged for any model upon customer request.

"Our customers ask for consistent quality and traceable test data," said Frank Chao, General Manager of FPD. "That is why we keep in-house test records for every model and arrange third-party testing whenever a customer requires it."

Products are exported to Europe, the United States and Japan and supplied to several international brand OEMs.
