Pathfinder Solutions Group Names Pat Willis President

Appointment positions the organization for its next phase of growth, supporting innovative, venture-backed companies across national security, government, and commercial markets

Tampa, Florida Nov 9, 2026 (Issuewire.com) - Pathfinder Solutions Group LLC (PSG), a solutions-based consulting firm supporting innovative, venture-backed companies, today announced the appointment of Pat Willis as President, where he will lead the organization's strategic direction, business development, and day-to-day operations.

Founded to support the venture-backed portfolio companies of Stony Lonesome Group (SLG), Pathfinder Solutions Group plays an important role in advancing SLG's Mentor Capital value proposition by helping emerging companies navigate the complexities of bringing innovative technologies and solutions to market. PSG works alongside its portfolio companies to accelerate customer traction and expand opportunities across the Department of War (DoW), federal government, and commercial sectors.

As President, Willis will lead the continued development and execution of PSG's growth strategy, strengthening its capabilities, expanding strategic relationships, and enhancing the resources and support available to the companies it serves.

"I am incredibly proud to lead an exceptional team supporting our portfolio companies. Together we will unlock new opportunities to achieve scalable, consistent, and sustainable performance and growth," said Pat Willis, President of Pathfinder Solutions Group.

"Pat's appointment represents an important milestone for Pathfinder Solutions Group and the continued evolution of our Mentor Capital platform," stated Sean Drake, Founder and Chairman of Pathfinder Solutions Group and Founder and Managing Partner of Stony Lonesome Group. "We established Pathfinder to provide our portfolio companies with more than capital. We wanted to give them access to the strategic guidance, relationships, and operational resources necessary to navigate complex markets and accelerate their growth. Pat brings the leadership and experience to build on that foundation and take the organization to the next level."

Pathfinder Solutions Group provides specialized support across several critical areas, including medical and healthcare solutions, cybersecurity and AI, Autonomy and Spectrum, and grant funding opportunities. Through its network of experienced advisors, industry experts, and strategic relationships, PSG helps portfolio companies address the challenges of entering new markets, developing customer relationships, and pursuing government and commercial opportunities.

The appointment reflects Pathfinder's continued commitment to strengthening the resources and capabilities available to the companies it supports, particularly those developing dual-use technologies with applications across national security and commercial markets.

"With Pat leading the organization, Pathfinder Solutions Group will continue to build on its mission of helping innovative companies navigate the path from technology development to market adoption."
