Office Catering for Dubai Marina Working Professionals

Ramadan Catering in Dubai Marina and Community Events

Groups planning Ramadan catering in Dubai Marina should ask any provider whether iftar meal boxes and bulk packages are offered, how far ahead orders must be placed and how the food will be delivered. The Shehjar Kitchen menu of traditional Indian dishes and snacks suits community gatherings and family events. Early planning helps. Fix the date, headcount, and dish choices first, then confirm timing with the kitchen.

How to Plan Your Group Meal Catering Order

Three steps cover most orders:

- Set the guest count and choose dishes from biryani, pulao, curries and traditional snacks.
- Select the delivery date and confirm the delivery address with the kitchen.
- Contact Shehjar Kitchen to confirm bulk meal packages, special requests, and timing.

Food Safety and Compliance in Dubai Catering

Catering in Dubai is overseen by Dubai Municipality. Operators must meet its food safety requirements, hold a valid food inspection grade, and register on the DM FoodWatch platform for food events. Home-based catering is not permitted, so a caterer has to work from a commercial-grade kitchen that meets municipal health and safety standards. Customers can ask Shehjar Kitchen & Restaurant, like any caterer, for its registration and inspection details, then check that status with Dubai Municipality before placing a large order.

Ordering Catering: Fresh Delivery, Flexible Packages

The kitchen accepts individual meal boxes, bulk packages, and custom catering orders. Free delivery is part of the offer, but customers should confirm that their location is covered. To discuss requirements, call +971-586214438 or write to shehjarkitchen@gmail.com.
